

The Daily Standard.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 24, 1873.

A. S. Kyle, of Youngstown, is here attending the Fair.

John Cissna and his bride went on the train to-day.

A swing is being put up in the Fair Grounds.

Joe Moore is running a shooting gallery at the Fair Grounds.

See advertisement of Grand Social Cotillon party at City Hall, Oct. 15th.

The number of members of the Church of the Disciples in this place is 202.

Sam. Martin and his bride left on the train this forenoon, on their bridal tour.

A large number of persons came up on the train to the Fair this forenoon.

Leo Miller took dinner at the Gibson House to-day. He will speak at Randall Academy to-night, and at Keystone Furnace Saturday night.

Miss Kate Monahan, and Miss Josephine Capitola &c., ("Babe") Monahan, daughters of Dr. I. T. Monahan, are at school at that fine institution, St. Mary's of the Springs, near Columbus.

Miss Ida Monahan, daughter of Dr. A. B. Monahan, and Miss Laura Tolley, daughter of W. A. Tolley, ("Whit") are at College Hill Seminary, near Cincinnati.

Miss Melvina P. Mackley, ("Oonie") daughter of the editor of this paper, started on Tuesday to Xenia Musical Academy. She will stop this week with her cousin, Mrs. Samuel Baird, at Columbus.

The subscription list of the Daily Standard extends into five States, to-wit: Ohio, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri and Kansas.

The Silver Cornet Band was on the streets last night between nine and ten o'clock, and discoursed some good music.

Isaac H. Moore and family, of Racine, Meigs county, are here on a visit. Mrs. Moore is a daughter of the late Dr. Mitchell of this place.

Our kind neighbor, Mrs. Cody, has loaned us a copy of The Nation, a large and fine looking paper, published at Dublin, Ireland.

Miss Cordelia Price, daughter of Henry Price, of Star Furnace, is at Gallia Academy, at Gallipolis.

Miss Laura G. Van Dyke, daughter of A. C. Van Dyke, of Orange Furnace, and Miss Ada Sternberger, daughter of Moses Sternberger, are at Oxford Female Seminary.

The Daily Standard of Friday will contain an exceedingly rich and racy letter from Eli Backus. If you want to laugh until you get the hiccoughs, read this letter.

We saw Michael Kreig, the contractor for building the County Infirmary, a day or two ago, and he informed us that the work is progressing well, the walls being up nearly to the second story.

We spoke of the new coal discovery on the lands of James Ray Hunter, as of Scioto township. Mr. Hunter resides in the edge of Scioto, but the coal shaft is in Franklin, very near the corner of Scioto, Franklin, Jefferson and Hamilton.

Devil No. 1 became so excited over the notoriety brought upon him by Mrs. Kirkendall's "clasher" that he rushed frantically down to Washam's clothing emporium and invested in a two story "plug." With this fine hat resting upon a pair of ears that would do credit to a last year's mule, he struts up and down the sanetum, with a pencil behind his ear waiting for another of Mrs. K.'s articles, that he may "garble it in true Bohemian style."

DEVIL NO. 3.

DEBATE.

The Democratic Central Committee has challenged the Republican Central Committee for a series of debates upon political issues, and the challenge has been accepted. The first of the series will be at the Court House to-morrow (Thursday) night. Come and hear.

Go to the City Hall to-night and see Beverly's Dramatic Company in Naval Engagements and the Country Cousins.

Tom Huff, the unrivaled comedian and song and dance man at City Hall with Beverly's Dramatic Company to-night.

Wm. Rice has sold his saloon and eating house property across the railroad from the depot, for $2,400. J. S. Titus and Jonathan McCoy are the purchasers.

The old fish on the school house, which has kept its nose to the wind for 17 years, and which was recently stricken with lightning, but uninjured, has been taken down, and we saw Wm. Tripp, the painter have it on his shoulder on Tuesday. We suppose he is going to paint it.

Elsewhere in our daily will be found the advertisement of Beverly's Dramatic Troupe announced to give a series of entertainments at City Hall. Our readers will remember Mr. Beverly as the manager of a company that played here some three years ago—since which time he has been travelling chiefly in the South and West; all who wish to witness a first-class entertainment will do well to attend.

David L. Evans, Manager of the Oak Hill Fire Brick and Coal Company, called on Monday to get some cards and letter heads printed. He says he is going to advertise soon. The company are now making fire bricks of all sizes and shapes to order. They can furnish furnaces with anything they may need in their line of work.

Elder Garvin, of Columbus, preached a most excellent sermon at the Disciples' Church on Monday night. He is a man of much ability, and his advice to his congregation to lay aside all prejudice, was well timed and appropriate. He is evidently a liberal minded, progressive Christian gentleman.

The following young gentlemen compose our corps of newboys for the delivery and sale of the DAILY STANDARD: Eddy Sternberger, Edwin Jones, Asa Messenger, Asa McEacham, James Chestnut, Edgar Meacham, Johnny Downey and Val DuHadway. They will be found at every point through town, selling the daily. Patronize them. They are industrious, bright, lively, honest little fellows, and deserve success.

There were two marriages at the M. E. Church last night. John M. Cissna and Lucretia B. Bennett were married, and Samuel G. Martin and Ella M. James. Mr. Cissna is a son of William M. Cissna, who was a prominent citizen of this place, and died here about twenty years ago. Miss Bennett is a step-daughter of Porter Du Hadway.

Mr. Martin is a son of C. M. Martin, and Miss James is a daughter of John D. James, of this place. Mr. Cissna's mother and Miss James's mother were sisters, daughters of the late Judge Mitchell, one of the pioneers of Jackson.

We printed the cards of invitation for these marriages. We went to the Church half an hour before the time named, and found the large room crowded. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Sowers, and the benediction was by Rev. L. A. Atkinson. The two brides were dressed in the most elegant and fashionable style.

A little child of C. Graham was dangerously scalded last night. It is about fifteen months of age. It was sitting in a chair, and was about to fall, when the girl attempted to save it from falling. She had a teakettle of boiling water in her hand, and the child fell, and the teakettle fell upon it, spilling the hot water upon it, and scalding its neck and back terribly. It lay in spasms for some time.

Stirring the Fire.

Bob Burden comes down like a wolf on the fold. His staggering sentences are manly and bold, And the smoke from the pit rises lurid and loose, When the fire is stirred with the quill of a goose.

Like the seeds of the melon when the summer is green, A host of Prohib. monkeys through the STANDARD were seen.

Like the seeds of the melon when autumn hath blown, That host in October will lay withered and brown.

For the spirit of Eli spreads his wing on the blast, And breathed in the face of the "Kirk" as he passed, And out rides I. T. with his brotherly love, But fails to discover the roost of the dove.

The eyes of the toppers wax red as they "smile," And the scream of the "Amazon" is heard for a mile.

All the Prohib. monkeys do sadly rave, And chew their tails over poor Eli's grave.

Barney O'Conner has part of the lumber on the ground for a residence on Portsmouth Street, on a lot in Booth's Addition.

The County Fair in Scioto county was a failure.

Our friends from the country who have never seen a power press in operation, can see our Fairhaven doing its fine work on our Daily, if they will call at the office at four o'clock any day during the Fair.

Peter O'Maley is now living in a fine new frame residence just completed, on Portsmouth Street, on a lot he bought from Mr. Booth.

Irvine Dungan is living in his fine new frame residence, just built, on one of the lots in Booth's Addition.

Mr. Golden will soon have a fine new residence completed on Portsmouth Street, on one of the lots in Booth's Addition.

We saw Mr. Shotts, manager of the Petrea coal mines a few days ago. He informed us that from eight to ten cars of coal are sent from those mines every day.

Rev. F. S. Davis preached an able sermon at the M. E. Church on Sunday night. The house was crowded to its full capacity. Mr. Davis was the stationed preacher at this place from 1865 to 1867.

Martin V. Wortman is having a fine and comfortable frame residence erected on South Street, a short distance west of the brick yard.

G. David is having three new frame residences built in Kahn's Addition, a short distance east of the brick residence of Capt. John Bennett.

Jerome Behem is having a frame residence built in Kahn's Addition, near the new buildings of G. David.

Judge Hastings has gone on a visit to his father, in the north part of the State.

John Motz has just had completed a fine frame residence on South Street, a short distance west of the Planing Mill.

Henry How, an old citizen of this county, died last week, and was buried on Sunday. Hr. How had been almost helpless for some years, having been afflicted with rheumatism.

The basket meeting at Four Mile last Sunday was a grand success, so far as numbers present was concerned. The sermons were very able, and it is hoped that much good will result.

A. W. Long of our place started on Tuesday for Chillicothe, Missouri, and Corydon, Iowa, and will be gone some two or three weeks.

Persons of taste and judgment are looking after the fine building lots which we advertise for sale. They are the most beautiful lots in town. They will be sold soon. If you want a most beautiful place for a residence, call at once, or you may be too late.
